What do you appreciate most about Nagarro?

Who wouldn't like to hit the gym before starting work? The flexible work culture is what I adore the most. There's a sense of freedom and autonomy inherent to Nagarro. It's a huge benefit to my personal life, and a strong departure from the traditional concept of office work. This, for me is real work-life balance!

What is that one quality that has helped you along your career path?

I see myself as an agile employee who can quickly adapt to a new environment, is open to learning, a calculated risktaker and multitasker. This has opened many doors of opportunities to learn, explore and move forward for me. I believe being agile will take you a long way in this competitive corporate world.

What advice would you give the next generation of female leaders?

Be humble; respect, and appreciate others' success. Challenges are inevitable. If you have a CAN-DO attitude and faith in yourself, facing them isn't a hardship. Learn to embrace failure. No one will remember the failures. Everyone will speak about the success story if you have managed to rise.

Do you feel unstoppable at Nagarro?

Nothing in life can be achieved alone. At Nagarro I found an open entity where the folks are very supportive, friendly, and, most importantly, non-hierarchical, giving equal value to all without any designation barrier. This culture engraved within Nagarro paves the way to an unstoppable career and life journey. I feel unstoppable here.
