

Wimonwan Thipdararat

Business Analyst
Thailand

#WomenOfNagarro

What do you appreciate most about Nagarro?

---

The flexibility to "work from anywhere," in fact, was what got me interested in joining Nagarro in the first place. This proposition allowed me to join a global company in my country.

What is that one quality that has helped you along your career path?

---

Negotiation: As a business analyst, my ability to negotiate and connect with different parties helps me a lot. I try my best to get things done for business purposes for which the art of persuasion is required both with the internal team and with the customers.

What advice would you give the next generation of female leaders?

---

Do not doubt your ability because of your gender. One can do anything if one wants.

Who is your personal role model?

---

Taylor Swift might not be the perfect role model, but I resonate with her message, "There will be some people along the way trying to undercut your success or take credit for your accomplishments, so we need to focus on what we have to do and just let those people do whatever they do. Just believe in yourself and accept yourself."

Do you feel unstoppable at Nagarro?

---

Surely yes! The flexibility that Nagarro provides empowers me to be able to achieve a lot. I am sure that my team will always be there for me whenever I need support.

Follow us

#WomenOfNagarro

