

Java Developer

I am a creator. The passion for what I do brings a whole new experience to the end customer. It is all in my hands, I am really good at what I do. Writing production code may be stressful, deadline is approaching, but like a perfect machine, my buddies and I are ready. A sip to my mug, no debugging can derail my day. I enter the state of flow and feel super productive. My head is in a different frequency, sense of time gets lost when I am crafting something.
